From a young age, Kane felt an connection to all living things. Visiting a German forest as a boy, he became aware that he could feel the energies of the plants, animals, and people around him. Since then, Kane has journeyed around the world, studying a myriad of religions and spiritual paths, helping him in his quest to connect with Spirit.

After a career in the workaday world, Kane began to hone his skills as a reader, focusing primarily on tarot cards. “I have always been fascinated with tarot and its history.” To further his abilities, Kane studied with a variety of teachers, including taking classes at the famed hamlet of Lily Dale in New York. Kane’s most important teacher was veteran Michigan Psychic Fair reader Laura. The two eventually wed- a romantic tale, indeed, and evidence of Spirit putting one where and with whom they needed to be!

For the past five years, Kane has been putting his skills of tarot reading, channeling, and mediumship to work to help his clients with clear and concise information that they can use in their everyday life as well as along their own spiritual path. His connection to the natural world aids him in helping his clients better understand the needs of their animal companions.

Among the disciplines that Kane has studied are yoga, crystals, and the energetic healing arts, which he puts to use to help clients heal emotionally and spiritually. Kane is particular adept at helping those with addictions and relationship issues. “I believe that with the power of intention, we can get though anything. Our thoughts and attitudes can either hold us back or set us free.”

Connecting with clients is an important part of Kane’s own journey: Coming to Michigan Psychic Fair about four years ago, he has enjoyed the “relaxed, positive environment, where I can give as well as receive.” In the coming year, Kane’s plans are to continue expanding his knowledge, working more and more with crystals and continuing to study metaphysics, to better serve as a reader and a teacher: “I love to constantly learn. My goal for the year is to become a better reader.”

Kane can be found at many Michigan Psychic Fair events -contact us for a schedule of events at which he will be in attendance. For more information regarding Kane, including services and classes, connect with him at his website.
